

Mobile Health Provider Program PAO BULLETIN

ISSUE 1 | AUGUST 2014

IN THIS ISSUE:

Announcements

- Program Milestone: Apple CEO Tim Cook visits Palo Alto Health Care System

Recent Articles

- Never Know Who You Will Meet at the Gym
- Orlando VAMC Local Feature Story: “Mobile Device is ‘Worth a Thousand Words’”
- DC VAMC Local Feature Story: “When Seconds Count”
- OI&T Helps Connect Veterans and Health Care Teams Through Mobile Technology
- OI&T’s Stacy Washington Transforms Health Care Delivery, One Mobile Device at a Time
- VA Mobile Health Provider Program Hits 3,600 Mobile Devices

Resources

- Updated Outreach Toolkit
- Mobile Health Provider Program Video

Colleagues,

To facilitate ongoing communications about the VA Mobile Health Provider Program, we will distribute a quarterly bulletin with program updates and stories about how this new technology is enabling VA providers to improve health care delivery to Veterans.

Please feel free to repurpose the content in this bulletin to fit your needs, and be sure to let us know if you have any questions or need some help tailoring content.

Thank you for your ongoing commitment to raising awareness about this program!

Sincerely,

Mobile Health Provider Program Communications Team

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Program Milestone: Apple CEO Tim Cook visits Palo Alto Health Care System

Last week, Apple CEO Tim Cook visited the Palo Alto Health Care System as the Mobile Health Provider Program distributed mobile devices to approximately 600 providers. He was joined by California Congresswoman Anna Eshoo. During the visit, they met with Veterans and providers.

With this deployment, the VA Mobile Health Provider Program has reached twelve VA facilities and successfully delivered mobile devices to more than 5,000 VA providers! Read more about this story in the OIA Blog “Never know who you will meet at the gym.”

RECENT ARTICLES

- Never Know Who You Will Meet at the Gym*
Apple CEO Tim Cook visits Palo Alto Health Care System.
- Orlando Local Feature Story: “Mobile Device is ‘Worth a Thousand Words’”
Dr. Leslee Davis uses her iPad as a quick way to educate her patients.
- DC VAMC Local Feature Story: “When Seconds Count”
Dr. Frank Liu, chief of the Nuclear Medicine Service at the Washington, DC VA Medical Center (VAMC), was among the first 1,000 providers to receive a mobile device.
- OI&T Helps Connect Veterans and Health Care Teams Through Mobile Technology*
The Mobile Health Provider Program is a unique partnership between the OI&T and VHA.
- OI&T’s Stacy Washington Transforms Health Care Delivery, One Mobile Device at a Time*
Stacy Washington assists and trains providers on how to use their iPads.
- VA Mobile Health Provider Program Hits 3,600 Mobile Devices*
Connected Health’s Co-Director, Kathy Frisbee, recently authored a blog announcing the recent program milestone of more than 3,600 devices delivered.

*Link only accessible inside the VA network.

RESOURCES

- Updated Outreach Toolkit
We recently refreshed our toolkit materials. Access the updated FAQs, factsheet, articles, social media, and more.
- Mobile Health Provider Program Video
The VHA’s YouTube channel featured a short video about the program. Feel free to share it on your Twitter and Facebook pages.

Apple CEO Tim Cook visits the Palo Alto Health Care System where approximately 600 providers received mobile devices.

Dr. Leslee Davis uses her iPad to provide patient education at the Orlando VA Medical Center.